DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In particular, it is unclear what is meant by the phrase "and its inclination, in relation to said plane" in line 5 of claim 1. Claim 8 recites the limitation "the part that must rest on the ground" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Claims 2-8 are also rejected for being dependent upon a rejected base claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Daninos (FR2510895).

2. As to claims 1-7, Daninos discloses a footstool device comprising at least one circular foot rest (1) and one base (3) attached to the footrest via a ball and socket joint (2) wherein the footrest is composed of a solid bowl with an internal cavity containing a liquid mobile mass, the footrest includes a layer of non-slip material on an upper surface and the footrest can tilt in various directions without touching the ground or the base (see ABSTRACT, Fig. 1 & Fig. 6).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Daninos (FR2510895).

3. As to claim 8, Daninos discloses a footstool as described above. Daninos does not disclose that the base includes non-slipping rubber pads. The examiner takes Official Notice that the prior art includes exercise devices having non-slip rubber pads. At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to combine non-slip rubber pads to Daninos' base to provide the footstool with with a floor gripping means to provide a more stable base for the user to exercise thereupon.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Thompson '793, Johnson et al. '235, Kucharik et al. '986, McWhirter '484, Kost '902 and Stodgell '536 each disclose feet exercise device that includes a base that pivots upon a ball and socket joint.
